Predicting asset reversals from twitter/X data

Assets such as stocks experience from time to time sudden trend reversals where the longterm trend changes from increasing to decreasing or vice versa.

The idea of the project is to utilise sentiment data from sources such as twitter (or now X), and use it to predict if a trend reversal will occur.

Requirements:

Prior experience and a strong interest in machine learning is recommended. Creativity and experience with programming are advantageous.

Interested? Please contact us for more details!

Contact

- Andreas Plesner: aplesner@ethz.ch, ETZ G95